ELECTRIC CAR CATCHES FIRE ON SUTTER STREET, IN S. F., AND MANY PEOPLE ARE INJURED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—An electric car on the Sutter-street line caught fire without warning at the corner of Sutter and Polk streets shortly before noon while crowded with passengers. A number of people were injured, but none seriously. The entire top of the car was burned off. It is supposed the fire originated from an exploding fuse.

GRAND JURY IS INVESTIGATING SHORTAGE OF SUICIDE TREASURER

MARTINEZ, Feb. 11.—The investigation into the defalcation of George A. Wylie, the defaulting treasurer of Contra Costa county, is being prosecuted by the grand jury today, and it is probable that the body will be in session until very late this afternoon.

L. R. Meade, foreman of the jury, stated at the noon recess today that he could not give any idea when the jury would adjourn, as there were many matters to go before the body besides the Wylie case. As the case now stands, Wylie was a defaulter in the sum of approximately $17,000, but since the first of the year his books have not been explicated.

It was understood that a representative of the Metropolitan Surety Company, which acted as bondman for the former treasurer, will go over the books.

George Ridgeway, an expert accountant, found the books correct at the first of the year. The jury investigating the Wylie case was summoned six weeks ago, and is now holding an adjourned session. When it finishes its investigation it will make a report to Judge William S. Wells.

"I don't see how the grand jury can do anything until the books have been explicated," said District Attorney H. V. Alvarado, this morning. "All of the accounts must be gone over, and the exact amount of the shortage learned."

Following is the list of the jurors investigating the Wylie case: L. R.

Meade, foreman. B. S. Booth, John Fletcher, Frank Galindo, D. C. Hedemark, W. A. Hole, M. W. Joth, James Kelly, M. E. Lyon, E. C. Palmer, W. A. Rolgers, Louis Seeman, S. K. Smith, R. J. Trimball, C. E. Wright, Thomas White, Ben Chaboy and W. C. Williams. The jury adjourned at 12 to meet at 1.

Little by little some of the details of the methods of the late Treasurer George A. Wylie, in covering the shortages in his accounts as treasurer of Contra Costa county are coming to light. It is evident now that the defalcation extended over a period of months, and that the deficit was covered by a substitution of funds over which Wylie, as treasurer, alone had control.

HANDLED LARGE SUMS.

E. E. Webster, deputy to Mr. Wylie, has explained how the money was supplied to meet the demands of the books at the monthly count in January. At that time there was $35,000 in the vaults which belonged to the State school fund. This money was part of the State tax fund which Wylie was holding subject to further orders. In making his tax settlement with the State, Wylie held back the county apportionment of school funds, in order to save the cost and danger of shipment to the State treasury, and then, when the school allotment was made, he had that portion sent back to him. When the day for counting the cash came no one knew that this money was in the vault but Wylie on that day.

Chairman Trythall, of the supervisors, Auditor Soto and District Attorney Alvarado called for the cash and Wylie produced his certificates of deposit, drawing from this hidden store to make good his deficit. The school money was apportioned and was charged on the auditor's books when the February settlement came. Wylie could no longer draw upon that and the evidence points strongly to the fact that he realized that he was at the end of his resources. He requested a few days' time in which to make a settlement. The delay was granted.

Webster explained fully to the officials today about the $35,000 school money in the vault.

Webster told the supervisors and other officials at the investigation that after Wylie had taken enough to make the books balance, $25,000 were left in the strong box.

Further inquiry today disclosed one new item of $450 in an escheated estate, which apparently is missing, that no receipt has been found by the State comptroller.

When the jury met this afternoon District Attorney Alvarado was called into consultation. As yet no witnesses have been summoned and the supposition is that the Wylie case is the only one being considered at the present time. Members of the Board of Supervisors will be called in consultation this afternoon.

"Nothing can be done until the books of the late treasurer have been explicated," said District Attorney Alvarado this afternoon.

PRESIDENT WOULD BAR FROM MAILS NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHING THAW TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The following statement was given out at the White House today: "The President has communicated with Postmaster-General Cortelyou to know whether it is feasible to bar from the mails the papers that give the full disgusting particulars of the Thaw case. He does not know whether it is feasible, but, if it is, he wishes it done."

WIFE SAYS HER HUSBAND FEARED DEATH, SO CARRIED A REVOLVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—United States District Attorney Stimson of this city today served a notice upon the publishers of all the principal newspapers in this city that he intends to bring before the United States grand jury for criminal prosecution all violations of the federal laws against the circulation of obscene matter in reporting the Thaw trial.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Dr. Charles E. Wagner, an alienist, was the first witness called after the recess. Dr. Wagner said the first examination of Thaw in the Tombs showed the latter suspicious and fearful he would be declared insane.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—After an interesting but not sensational morning session of less than two hours' duration, it was agreed by counsel engaged in the trial of Harry K. Thaw today that Mrs. Evelyn Thaw should step aside to permit introduction of competent testimony tending to show the alleged unsound condition of the prisoner's mind.

This action was taken after repeated objection by District Attorney Jerome to further questioning of the witness as to conversations between her and the defendant concerning Stanford White had been sustained by the court and Justice Fitzgerald had intimated that counsel should follow the spirit of his rulings as laid down in specific instances.

Mr. Jerome's objections were based on the ground that the testimony of Mrs. Thaw had gone far enough without a better foundation of insanity on the part of the defendant being laid.

The recalling of Mrs. Thaw to the stand this morning followed the testimony of J. D. Lyon, vice president of the Union National Bank of Pittsburgh, who declared he had had possession of Harry Thaw's will until late in November, 1906, and the testimony of John B. Gleason of Thaw's counsel, who, when sworn as a witness, said he received by mail from Pittsburgh on December 11, 1906, the will in question.

Mr. Jerome expressed willingness to admit that the will received by Mr. Lyon prior to April 1, 1906, and held by him till November last, passed directly to Mr. Gleason, who testified that there had been no changes made in it.

Mrs. Thaw was permitted to tell but little today, because of objections by Mr. Jerome. She did, however, declare that Thaw carried a revolver only while in New York City. She also identified the note she passed to her husband at dinner in the Cafe Martin the night of the tragedy, which read:

"The b—— was here a minute ago, but went out again."

Wife of Prisoner on Stand Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The opening of the fourth week of the Thaw trial today brought a new order of things in the court room and all women other than the half dozen active newspaper writers who have followed the case since the beginning, were barred by order of Justice Fitzgerald.

During the two days of last week when Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was upon the witness stand many women crowded the courtroom, having in some manner solved the problem of getting past the bailiff at the door. In the belief that the prisoner's wife was again to be the central figure in the famous trial, the women were anxious to hear the final details of her life narrative.

They were attired in all the gay plumage that gave the courtroom last week the appearance of some gala matinee performance. Their indignation knew no bounds when the court officer repulsed them with the statement that the court's order excluded every one except such as were working newspaper reporters. Many of those who had occupied front seats during last week were led to believe that the order could not possibly include them, and they remained about the corridors a long time in the hope that there might be some relaxation of the rule.

As the result of the order barring all women, there were several rows of vacant seats in the courtroom when Justice Fitzgerald took his place on the bench and Harry Thaw was called to the bar.

The prisoner walked to his place at the table without a single friendly nod to greet him. No member of his family was in court.

That the defense would proceed with the struggle to have Harry Thaw's will accepted in evidence as testimony to his mental condition, was indicated by Mr. Delmas who asked that J. D. Lyon be called as the first witness of the day.

Mr. Lyon testified that he had been engaged in the banking business in Pittsburgh for more than a quarter of a century, and is now connected with the Union National Bank.

"You are acquainted with the defendant, Harry K. Thaw?" asked Mr. Delmas.

Mr. Jerome objected, protesting against the defense proceeding with a new witness, while the examination of Mrs. Evelyn Thaw remains uncompleted.

Rules of Evidence.

Mr. Delmas stated that when court adjourned last Friday the will of the defendant was under

CONFERENCE ON JAPANESE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The second conference between the president and Mayor Schmitz and his associates from San Francisco began at the White House shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon. Secretary Root was present.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Thomas

F. Boyle of the San Francisco Board of Education, was at the White House today and made arrangements for another conference upon the Japanese school question this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

As the arrangements for the meeting are made at the suggestion of the San Francisco authorities, the inference is that they are ready to make some definite proposition to the president.

Mr. Boyle declined to say anything about the future course of the delegation.

SCHMITZ-RUEF CASES CALLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—The Schmitz-Ruef cases were called in Judge Dunne's court this morning, but went over until next Monday on account of the absence of Mayor Schmitz in the East.

It is expected that Judge Dunne will dispose of the demurrers of the defendants to the indictments at the next hearing.

The conspiracy charges against Ruef and Chief of Police Dinan were called in the same court and a transcript of the testimony taken before the grand jury was offered by the defense for the purpose of showing that Assistant District Attorney Heney had testified before that body without having been sworn as a witness.

SENTENCED TO 40 YEARS IN PRISON

MARTINEZ, Feb. 11.—Forty years in the State penitentiary at San Quentin, was the sentence meted out this morning by Judge William S. Wells upon Manuel Higuera, who was convicted of the crime of criminal assault upon Emma Higuera, his fifteen-year-old niece.

The assault took place on January 10 of this year, and Higuera was convicted in Judge Wells' court.

PROOF OF THAW'S INSANITY IN MYSTERIOUS WILL

LAWYERS FIGHT TO PLACE DOCUMENT BEFORE JURY

Codicil Signed on Their Wedding Day an Important Factor in Legal Battle for Life.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Unless all plans are changed, attorneys for the defense in the Thaw case, when court opens this morning, will continue their effort to place before the jury the will which Henry K. Thaw is said to have signed on his wedding day, April 4, 1905. On this will, and a codicil said to have been signed at the same time, the defense relies largely to show that the story which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has testified she told her husband before their marriage, unhinged Thaw's mind and that constant brooding over her story induced a state of mental irresponsibility which culminated in his shooting of Stanford White.

Just what this will contains no one knows except the defense and District Attorney Jerome, who had an opportunity to examine it when it was offered in evidence. What purports to be extracts from the will have been printed, but the attorneys for the defense have denied in general that any of them are true. It is certain, however, that the name of Stanford White is in the will. This developed during the cross-examination of one of the witnesses to Thaw's signature to the document, when it was offered first in evidence. The witness told Mr. Jerome that she had noticed, when she signed her name, that there was some writing in the page. Mr. Jerome asked her if she knew that it was the writing now on the sheet "beginning 'Stanford White,'" but he said no more.

WILL TELLS STORY.

That this will and the codicil will show that the story which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw has testified she told her husband, was responsible for a condition of mental irresponsibility in Thaw, is the firm belief of the defense. Attorney Delmas has repeatedly said so. The will itself can be of no value in the case unless it tends to show that Thaw brooded over his wife's story and over what he believed to have been the fate of other young girls at the hands of Stanford White, until his mind became unbalanced and he believed himself an instrument of providence to remove White from the world.

It is said that by this will Thaw directed that $50,000 was to be used for the prosecution of any person who might cause his death, and that $75,000 was left as a fund for the care of certain girls, named in the documents, whom he knew had been ruined and cast adrift by White. Many of the girls whose names are said to be in the codicil to the will making this provision, have, it is claimed, denied all relations with White, but, like Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's story, the truth cannot be questioned. If Thaw believed that they had shared the fate which he was convinced his wife would have met had he not saved her, and this contributed to unhinging his mind, the evidence is competent.

PLANS OF DEFENSE.

The defense plans to call to the stand this morning a lawyer from Pittsburgh, named Perkins, who is said to have drawn the original will. He is a relative of George Lauder Carnegie, Thaw's brother-in-law. The will, as it was originally drawn, was typewritten, but today it is a mass of interlinearations and erasures. It is said that the defense expects to prove by Mr. Perkins that these changes in the original document were made by Thaw before he affixed his signature.

Before the defense can introduce the will in evidence, it must be conclusively proved that the document is today in the same condition that it was when it was signed. The prosecution will object to its introduction until this is proved beyond question. Mrs. Thaw while on the stand identified some of the interlinearations as being in Thaw's handwriting; others she was not sure about. But she was unable to testify that the interlinearations had been made before the will was signed.

It had been said that the will was turned over to Mr. Gleason, of Thaw's counsel, immediately after the killing of White, and that it has moreover left his possession since. If this is true—the defense will neither affirm nor deny it—it is possible that the attorney will be placed on the stand to testify to this fact.

PROOF OF INSANITY.

The defense believes that this will is absolute proof that Thaw was insane and will fight to the last ditch to have it placed in evidence, but it is stated that District Attorney Jerome will fight just as hard to have it excluded. It looks as if Mrs. Thaw's testimony would be interrupted for some time, while the lawyers argue over its admissibility.

It now appears very doubtful that

STUDIES OF WOMEN IN THE FAMOUS THAW CASE.

Harry Thaw will take the stand in his own defense. Unless it appears that it is absolutely necessary, his attorneys will not put him in a position where the district attorney will be able to cross-examine him. There is little that he can say, and if he does go on the stand it would give the prosecution an opportunity to go into the details of a number of matters which seem to have been placed before the jury by Mrs. Thaw as well as they could be placed by the defendant himself, and would open the way for the prosecution to enter into the truth or falsity of those statements, which they cannot at present do.

When Evelyn Nesbit Thaw first went on the stand to tell her story Mr. Jerome objected to portions of it on the ground that he would not be allowed under the law to controvert any statement that she testified she had made to her husband, and which might have tended to unbalance his mind. Mr. Delmas, for the defense, stated that the defense would not take advantage of this law, but would give the prosecution every opportunity it desired to attempt to show that this story was not true.

When Mr. Jerome repeated these arguments at a late session of the court, Mr. Delmas was silent. The defense clearly has the law on its side, and it now seems probable that they will take every advantage of it. Names have not been mentioned in Mrs. Thaw's testimony, but with the consent of counsel, she has whispered them to Mr. Jerome, and he has found and questioned everyone of those whose names he received that are within reach. If they in any way can controvert Mrs. Thaw's testimony, Mr. Jerome knows it. If the defense allows him, there is no doubt that he will attempt to show that the story she says she told her husband is not true in its entirety.

The district attorney's office, it is said, is still confident that it can secure a conviction. On the other hand, Thaw's attorneys state that they are sure of acquittal. One thing is certain, the great dramatic moment of the trial, so far as the defense is concerned, has passed. When Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told on the stand the story of her experience with Stanford White, as she said she told it to Thaw before their marriage, the defense sprang its greatest sensation. No evidence that can be introduced will equal the sensation which this story contained.

A conference of Thaw's lawyers was held last night to consider the further program of the defense. It was determined, it was stated, to settle at the opening of the court today the question as to the admissibility of Thaw's will, following this Mrs. Thaw will resume her testimony.

Another decision reached at the conference, it was reported, was that Harry K. Thaw should not be called upon to testify except in some emergency, now unforeseen.

BRIDGE WHIST MANIA.

It is possible that the mania Thaw has for bridge whist playing may be brought to the attention of the jury to substantiate the claim that Thaw was insane at the time of the shooting. Thaw, it is said, played the game wildly at the time, and lost thousands of dollars. Persons who played with him, in commenting on his play, are credited with saying that his style was that of a "crazy man."

Jean L. DeForest, who was Mrs. Thaw's teacher at the school in Pompton, N. J., adds a chapter to the case today. She writes that Mrs. Thaw (then Evelyn Nesbit) was an earnest scholar and says that since the tragedy, with Thaw's consent, she has continued to instruct Mrs. Thaw in literature, English and biblical history. The instruction is given at the Hotel Lorraine, where Mrs. Thaw lives, and Mrs. McKenzies, Mrs. Thaw's constant companion, according to Miss DeForest, became interested and shares in the studies.

Delphin M. Delmas, chief counsel for Thaw, who spent Sunday in Philadelphia, is quoted as saying in an interview that he is much encouraged with the present outlook of the case, and that the story told by Mrs. Thaw in court is not half as tragic as it was when she told it to him during the preparation of the case.

WAGE WAR ON THE HOMELESS.

The police are again conducting a crusade on the ne'er-do-wells, who sleep out of doors at night. The ordinance forbidding sleeping out is being enforced and last night five men were arrested. This morning they appeared in police court No. 2 and were sentenced to three days each in jail. The men are William Wagner, Elmer Todd, Frank Wagner, Jessie H. Henry and Maurice McNamara.

ON TRIAL FOR A BURGLARY

Young Men Face Superior Court Jury on a Serious Charge.

William G. Smith and William C. Bennett, the latter clad in his "lucky coat" are again being tried for burglarizing the apartments of William Yager on the 27th of last September. Bennett still holds out hope for acquittal on the strength of his lucky coat, which has worked on two cases before, only failing in one instance.

When Clyde Gill was tried for burglary several weeks ago, he had sent his coat out to the tailor, so wore Bennett's garment. The gray coat had its charm and Gill was set free because the prosecuting witness failed to put in an appearance. The jury failed to return a verdict when Bennett wore the coat in his last trial, but since then the charm has been shattered.

Harry Carey was tried on a burglary charge a few weeks ago and appeared in the court room dressed in the Bennett coat, but was convicted by a jury. Bennett said this morning that the secret was not only in the cloth but in the art of wearing the goods. He has hopes of being cleared on this trial which is being held today before Judge Ellsworth in Department Three of the Superior Court. Attorney G. J. McDonough is defending Smith and Bennett while Deputy District Attorney Redmond C. Staats is prosecuting the case.

Smith and Bennett made an attempt to break jail last November and since that time they have to be carefully watched by the jailer for they do not take very kindly to confinement and Jailer Ward cannot trust them in an ordinary cell.

CHINESE ACCUSED OF A THEFT.

For the alleged theft of a pair of trousers from the store of L. Burron on Seventh street, Ah Jim, a Chinese laundryman, was arrested and charged with petit larceny. Ah Jim's case was called in department two of the police court this morning, but was continued until tomorrow, at which time the defendant will plead. Burron claims that the Chinese had past his store and grabbing a pair of trousers, started to run away, but was captured by the agile storekeeper.

ARRESTED ON A FELONY CHARGE.

Upon advices from the Los Angeles authorities, Frederick J. Taylor, suspected of forgery, was arrested at the local postoffice about eight o'clock this morning. The police of the southern city communicated with Chief of Police Wilson of this city, stating that Taylor was here. Policeman Kremler was detailed on the case and apprehended Taylor as he was about to get his mail at the postoffice.

HELD UP BY A FOOTPAD

Many Small Crimes Are Reported to the Police Department.

While serving his papers yesterday morning, Walter Murray, residing at 217 Twelfth street, was held up and robbed of $150 and a hat, by a burly footpad. Murray was walking along Twelfth street, and at Alice a strange man stepped out from a new building and grabbing him, rained his pockets and then stole the lad's new hat. The robber then ran along Twelfth street to Jackson and disappeared in the direction of Chinatown. The theft was reported to the police, but although a good description was given of the footpad, he was not caught.

The police received many other reports of petty thefts. J. Petersen, who lives at 5304 Mission street, in San Francisco, was robbed of an Eagle's pin set with a diamond. The pin was stolen from the lapel of Petersen's coat at 1178 Twenty-third avenue.

Thomas Jennings reported that thieves had entered his room at the Golden West Hotel and had stolen a diamond pin and a suit of clothing. James Richards was also the victim of room thieves. They stole a tuxedo suit, a frock suit and a plain black suit from his room at the Portland house.

J. O'Rourke's home at 564 Albin street was entered by thieves, who stole a diamond pin and some other articles of small value. Mrs. G. M. Stinson left a purse containing a considerable amount of money, a watch fob and a gold clasp in her room at 1122 Washington street, which were stolen by thieves during her absence.

Thieves stole $25 from a purse which Mrs. A. Churchill had left in a trunk in her room at 1317 Seventh street. H. S. Kriegbaum, proprietor of the Juanita hotel, accepted from a man giving the name of Crosby in payment for a room a Confederate $10 bill. Crosby secured $5.50 in change and disappeared.

CHINESE GAMBLERS UNDER ARREST.

Ninety-five Chinese gamblers were arrested in a raid Saturday night on a den at 382 Webster street. The roundup was conducted by Captain of Police Lynch, Sergeant Rock and Policemen McCredy and Keefe. The place is one of the finest Chinese gambling rooms in the State. Entrance was gained to the den with the use of sledge hammers and hay hooks. This morning in department one of the police court, the bail money furnished by the Chinamen, aggregating $965, was forfeited. Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills will be termed "Perfective."

CARMEN TO HEAR REPORT

Arbitration Committee Is About Ready to Give Its Decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—What may possibly be the final session of the board of arbitrators in the settlement of the contentions between the United Railroads and its employees will be held today and a decision may be formulated for publication today.

As was stated last week, the arbitrators had not been able to agree on all the propositions submitted to them and it was likely that a dissenting opinion would be filed and given out for publication when the majority decision was rendered.

An erroneous story was published in a morning paper on Friday to the effect that a decision had already been reached which gave the carmen but 20 per cent increase and denied them any remedy in the matter of hours of work. An incident which has influenced the decision in the last days of the discussion is the fact that the Oakland Traction company has made public its intention of granting a raise in the wages of the carmen on the other side of the bay which will give them a minimum of 30 cents and a maximum of 40 cents an hour. As this means $4 a day to the men longest in the employ of the company it is thought reasonable that the larger and more prosperous company might be able to reward its men with the desired $3 and eight hours and still preserve intact its cherished dividends, especially as the traffic on this side is much heavier and the labors of the carmen correspondingly onerous.

FREE MARKET HAS INCORPORATED.

The Oakland Free Market Company filed articles of incorporation with the county clerk this morning. The principal place of business is in Oakland for a term of fifty years with a capital stock of $25,000 of which $25 has been commonly subscribed by E. Block, E. J. Turner, L. H. Wise, George H. Davis and Edwin T. Emery.

Flynn, the well known dry goods dealer, late of 488-471 Twelfth street has moved his stock to 225 and 227 Twelfth street, corner of Alameda street (Pythian Castle Building) where he will be pleased to see all former patrons, which store he will occupy temporarily, until he secures permanent quarters. Mr. Flynn is now offering some unprecedented bargains in dry and fancy goods, and ladies' and men's furnishings at figures much less than any special sale prices ever offered in Oakland.

YOUTH'S BODY IS RECOVERED

Lad Who Was Drowned Near Richmond Was Buried Today.

RICHMOND, Feb. 11.—The body of Charles Flynn the sixteen-year-old boy who was drowned Friday afternoon while bathing in a pool near the Schrock furniture factory was recovered Saturday by means of grappling hooks after a search lasting nearly twenty-four hours. The funeral was held today. Coroner Abbott will hold an inquest Wednesday.

REPORTS STORMY TRIP.

The Standard Oil Company's steamer Winnebago arrived at the refinery wharf yesterday from the Orient. She experienced a very stormy voyage this trip, the seas being heavy the greater portion of the way. According to Captain Macdonald, the wind blew with hurricane force on January 27, the sea stove in the cabin door and flooded the after part of the vessel. The steamer, however, is but little the worse for the experience and she is already being loaded with a cargo of fuel oil. She will leave port for the return journey to the Orient within a few days.

ASCENSION ARRIVES.

The Standard Oil steamer Ascension arrived at the Standard's wharf from Portland yesterday morning and is taking on a cargo of fuel oil today for north coast ports.

Christian Koch Commits Suicide While Despondent

His long illness made Christian Koch, an aged farmer of Livermore, who is said to be wealthy, despondent, and Saturday night he ended his life by blowing out his brains with a shotgun.

The rash act was committed at Dolan Canyon ranch, the property of Koch's son-in-law, Frank Smith. Koch was seventy-three years of age and had been ill for many years. He had been residing with his daughter since selling his ranch at Tassajara, where he owned 160 acres of land. The desperate man stretched himself out on his bed, and placing the muzzle of a shotgun in his mouth, pulled the trigger with his feet. The crash of the shot tore the top of his head off.

EXPERT ON WITNESS STAND

Attempt to Show That Thaw Is Insane.

discussion and had been ruled out because of insufficiency of the proof of the document. It was now proposed, he said to proceed with the further identification of the will.

Mr. Delmas stated that he considered that enough evidence had been introduced in the shape of the testimony of an expert and of laymen who were witnesses to the occurrence to establish a prima facie case of unsoundness of mind. All the was attempting to do he said, was to interrupt Mrs. Thaw's testimony for the purpose of better satisfying the district attorney of the defendant's unsoundness of mind, at the time of the shooting. He thought that in doing this he was complying with the district attorney's wishes.

Mr. Delmas asked that Mr. Lyon be allowed merely to identify an envelope and the package (the will) it contained. Then, if the district attorney objected further, he would defer for the time being the offer of the will in evidence.

Mr. Jerome in arguing that his objection should be sustained went into the discussion of the rules of evidence which prevented him from contravening the truth of Mrs. Thaw's testimony as to the story she told her husband. Judicially, Mr. Jerome said, the court could not say as to whether or not the story Mrs. Thaw told her husband had any effect on his mind.

"I must object to the line of argument by the district attorney," interrupted Mr. Delmas. "He is addressing himself to facts not in evidence."

Statements of Mrs. Thaw.

Justice Fitzgerald said that all the statements by Mrs. Thaw are upon the record practically by consent but now the judgment of the court was invoked. The objection to the introduction of the documents on Friday was a technical one, but it was sound. There was a witness upon the stand when court adjourned whose testimony had not been finished.

"It seems to me," said the court, "that either that witness should be finished with or consent should be given to proceed with this witness."

Mr. Jerome withdrew his objection and Mr. Lyon was permitted to proceed.

"How long have you known Harry K. Thaw?" asked Mr. Delmas.

"Ever since he was a boy," replied Mr. Lyon.

"I hand you an envelope and ask you if you ever saw it before."

"I have seen this before, it was in my possession."

"When did it come into your possession?"

"Some time near April 1, 1906."

"Was the envelope sealed and did it apparently contain a package?"

"Yes."

"How did you receive the package?"

"From the hands of Harry Thaw."

Mr. Lyon said he was familiar with the defendant's handwriting, and it was his handwriting upon the envelope.

"What did you do with the envelope?"

"I placed in my box in the safety deposit vault in the bank."

"How long did it remain there?"

"Until November, 1906."

"What did you do with it?"

"I gave it to my stenographer, Charles Johnston."

Produce Letters.

Mr. Delmas showed Mr. Lyon another envelope, part of the writing on which he identified as that of his stenographer.

Mr. Jerome took the witness, who, under cross examination, remarked that there were doubtless many letters from Thaw in the bank at Pittsburgh.

"Can you, as president of the bank, produce those letters?"

"Yes, I suppose so."

"Will you?"

"Yes, if you want them."

Mr. Jerome stated he could not continue the cross examination without the letters and asked the court to order that the letters be produced.

Mr. Delmas objected. "What's the matter?" asked Mr. Jerome, "don't you want the letters produced?"

"I have not the slightest objection to the introduction of any letter this defendant ever wrote," was the reply.

He objected to the letters being turned over to the district attorney. It was only agreed that the letters should be turned over to the clerk of the court.

Mr. Lyon was excused and John B. Gleason was called.

Mr. Gleason has had possession of most of the defendant's papers since the tragedy.

Mr. Gleason said the envelope containing the will had been in his possession since December 11, 1906. Absolutely no changes had been made in the document from that time to this except the marks for identification.

Mr. Jerome asked only one or two questions on cross examination, bringing out nothing new.

Mr. Jerome conceded the progress of the will direct from Mr. Lyon to M. Gleason, saying he would not require the defense to produce Mr. Lyon's secretary as a witness to that end. The offer of the will in evidence was deferred.

Mr. Delmas then asked that Mrs. Harry Thaw be recalled.

"It has been testified by this witness," said Mr. Delmas, when the young wife took her place in the witness chair, "that she wrote the note to her husband in the Cafe Martin the night of the occurrence on Madison Square Garden. This note, we understand to be in the possession of the learned district attorney. We now ask the learned district attorney to produce that paper?"

Mr. Jerome arose.

"We have a piece of paper," he said, "I don't know that it is this note, but I will send for it."

During the wait, Mrs. Thaw underwent the closest scrutiny by those in the court room. She was attired precisely as on every other day of the trial. She was pale, but entirely composed.

When the note had been received and identified by Mrs. Thaw, Mr. Jerome offered no objection to its being received in evidence. The note proved no surprise.

Mr. Delmas read it as follows:

"The B— was here a minute ago, but went out again."

Mrs. Thaw said the "B—" meant the "blackguard," and referred to Stanford White.

Mr. Delmas asked:

"In conversation between yourself and your husband, who was the person designated as 'B—'?"

"Stanford White."

"You have testified that you called him a 'blackguard.' I take it this 'B—' is an abbreviation of that word?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did you ever hear Mr. Thaw refer to threats made against his life by White?"

Mr. Jerome objected on the ground that in a plea of self-defense the defendant's own statements are not admissible.

Mr. Delmas claimed that these threats had been made, and that it was competent to prove that Thaw armed himself after hearing of them.

Justice Fitzgerald held that there was no rule of law which will allow the defendant's own claims that threats were made against his life.

Mr. Delmas claimed that if he could show that the defendant's statements were the result of insane delusions he would have the right to show them.

Mr. Delmas said it was impossible for him to frame the question more broadly, and he would have to note an exception.

Turning to Mrs. Thaw, he asked:

"Did you ever see a pistol in Mr. Thaw's possession?"

"Yes."

"When, for the first time?"

"I cannot say exactly. It was some time after Christmas eve, 1903."

"Do you know if he ever carried the pistol anywhere except when in New York?"

"He never carried the pistol except when in New York."

"Mrs. Thaw, the name of May McKenzie has been mentioned a number of times in this case. Will you state when you first met her?"

"I think it was in 1901."

"Did you ever tell Mr. Thaw of a visit made to May McKenzie when she was sick in a hospital and while Stanford White was present?"

"Yes."

"State what you told Mr. Thaw?"

Mr. Jerome objected.

White Drugs Evelyn Nesbit

"The defendant under the ruling is in an unfortunate condition," said Mr. Delmas. "We are trying to prove the mental condition of the defendant by his looks, actions and declarations."

"He was momentarily insane and we are trying to prove it by a series of acts before and after this occurrence."

Justice Fitzgerald sustained the objection.

"Mrs. Thaw, did you in any conversation with your husband state to him that after your marriage May McKenzie had said, when she told Stanford White that you were married and living happily with your husband, that—"

Mr. Jerome's objection to this was sustained.

"In forming his hypothetical question, Mr. Delmas accused White of drugging Evelyn Nesbit."

Relates Story To His Wife.

Mr. Delmas asked if he was to understand that the court's ruling on specific questions was to indicate that no further questions were to be allowed between the witness and defendant were to be allowed.

"I think counsel should be guided by the spirit of the ruling as well as the letter," suggested Justice Fitzgerald.

"I do not desire for an instant to transgress the spirit of the court's ruling, and upon the slightest intimation that the spirit of the ruling is as indicated, will desist," said Mr. Delmas.

"The court has gone as fully into the matter as it desires," said the judge.

"Did you attend the theater with Harry Thaw and a lady in July, 1903?" asked Mr. Delmas.

Mr. Jerome again objected and the objection was sustained.

"What effect on the defendant did the presence of Stanford White have?" asked Mr. Delmas.

Again Mr. Jerome objected and was sustained.

"Upon your return from Europe in 1904, was Mr. Thaw present upon the steamer?"

"Yes, sir."

"When you were on the steamer do you remember whether Mr. Thaw said anything about a certain person and what happened to her at the hands of Stanford White?"

"Yes."

"Again the district attorney objected to tell the story."

"In Paris did you tell Mr. Thaw about a young woman who was known by you as 'The Pie Girl'?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Thaw was not allowed to detail this story either by her husband or by herself. "When did Mr. Thaw make his last proposal of marriage to you, the one which you accepted?"

"I think it was about April 1, 1905."

"Did he make any declaration regarding it at that time?"

Another objection was sustained.

"Did you ever hear Mr. Thaw refer to statements he made to the Society for the Protection of Children and for the Suppression of Vice?"

Mrs. Thaw was not allowed to answer.

"Answering a hypothetical question this afternoon Dr. Wagner said Thaw did not know his act was wrong."

Mr. Delmas said that the defense would not take up much more time. The statement that the defense would wait several weeks, he said, was untrue.

Adjournment at 4:50 until tomorrow was taken.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session began with Mr. Delmas proceeding with the introduction of medical testimony as to Thaw's condition of mind, calling first to the stand Dr. Charles Wagner.

Dr. Wagner said:

"On the first visit to Thaw in the Tombs I talked with him, but did not make a thorough examination. I observed that he was suspicious, reticent and apprehensive. He was fearful that he would be declared insane. After a general conversation I made an arrangement for a future visit which led to a second examination in September. I went to the Tombs with Dr. Evans of the insane hospital at Morris Plains, N. J., for the purpose of making a thorough examination."

"What did you observe on the second visit?"

"Mr. Thaw was brought in and we had stated the object of our visit when Mr. Thaw turned and abruptly left the room, notwithstanding that it was understood beforehand that we were there to examine him."

Justice Fitzgerald, on motion of District Attorney Jerome, ordered that all of the answers after the words "room," etc., be stricken out.

Mr. Jerome admonished the witness that he was not to be asked, and the court directed him to relate only what he observed.

"Tell us what you observed," said Mr. Delmas.

"He abruptly left the room."

"Did you observe anything else?"

"Yes, observed more, but it was all in his conversation."

Mr. Delmas and Mr. Jerome had a long argument on the covering the matter of expert testimony.

Mr. Delmas argued that the declaration by Thaw tended to show his state of mind at the time of the shooting, and that all he desired from the witness upon the stand was an opinion as to the defendant's condition at the time of the examination in September. He would ultimately show his condition on June 26, 1906.

District Attorney Jerome argued that the mental condition of Thaw at the time of the examination was not material. The only thing that was competent, he said, was to show the defendant's mental condition at the time of the shooting and at the time when his wife told the stories which the defense claims unhinged his mind.

Mr. Delmas asked Mr. Wagner to go over the details of his second visit and give the answers to Mr. Jerome's questions and was sustained.

"When did you make your next visit to the prisoner?" asked Mr. Delmas.

"I think it was on September 27."

"State what examination you made."

"The examination consisted of certain questions and answers to the following questions: 'You must not give conversations,' said Justice Fitzgerald.

"Yes, there anything else?"

"Wait a moment, doctor. Were those questions necessary to ascertain the mental condition of the defendant?"

"Yes, sir."

"Please state what those conditions were."

District Attorney Jerome objected and was sustained.

"Did these questions and answers refer to the defendant's past state of mind or his condition at the time of the examination?"

"Both."

"Can you separate the questions and answers as between past events and his condition at the time of the examination?"

"OBJECTION SUSTAINED."

Please state the questions and answers as to his condition at the time of the examination."

Mr. Jerome objected and was sustained.

"What did you do?"

FOUR-TRACK BILL IS RECALLED IN SENATE

The Pure Food Bill Goes Through the Senate by a Unanimous Vote.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 11.—The Senate today passed Senator McCarty's pure food bill by unanimous vote.

The bill is an adaptation of the national pure food act passed by congress and is sweeping and far-reaching in the provisions which it contains. It prohibits the manufacture, production, importation and sale in this state of any article of food or liquid which is adulterated or misbranded. The standard of purity in the state is to be the same as proclaimed by the secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture. Adulteration and misbranding are defined at great length and the possession of any impure food or liquor shall constitute prima facie evidence of the violation of the act.

The bill contains an appropriation of $20,000 for the establishment of a state laboratory for the analysis and examination of foods, drugs and liquors. The salary of the director of the laboratory is fixed at $5000. It is made the duty of sheriffs upon complaint of violation of the act to secure a sample of the food complained of and send it to the state laboratory.

Senator Anderson's "four-track" bill again met with opposition in the Senate today when it came up for reconsideration of the vote by which it was defeated Saturday. The Senate, however, by a vote of 32 to 2, decided to reconsider the bill, Caminetti and Boynton voting against reconsideration.

Senator Caminetti called the attention of the Senate to the provisions in the bill which might result in blocking the right-of-way of some competing railroad desiring to enter through some narrow defile or canyon already in possession of a railroad and wanted to insert an amendment to provide against such a contingency.

"It should not be the policy of the Legislature to put impediments in the way of competing railroad lines," said Senator Caminetti, "and I ask what objection there can be to such an amendment."

Sensors Curtin and Leavitt opposed the amendment and the bill was made a special order for Wednesday.

MINISTER ON THE STAND

Testified Against a Wife and a Divorce is Granted.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 11.—William Forsyth Belding, well known throughout Contra Costa county, was today granted a divorce from Irene Belding, daughter of W. B. Cheney, a hardware merchant of Sacramento, and a prominent resident of the Capital city. Extreme cruelty was the charge made by the husband, and he proved his charge with the testimony of a Methodist minister and former constable.

Rev. Calfee, pastor of a Methodist Episcopal church at Point Richmond, testified on behalf of Belding. Frank Molozza, a former constable of Point Richmond, was called to the stand and said he had often noticed Mrs. Belding in the company of Stafford and had seen her in a room at the back of Stafford's place of business, after the front door had been closed and the lights had been put out.

INVESTIGATING THE RAISE IN RATES.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 11.—The Interstate Commerce Commission here today began an investigation of the recent rise in grain rates put into effect by the Union Pacific Railroad. The complainant is the Omaha Grain Exchange, which charges that the Union Pacific raised its rates on grain across the Missouri River bridge at Omaha from two dollars per car to $5 to $8 per car.

The railroad in its answer admitted that it had an investigation of the matter and that it is desirous that the increased rates are exorbitant.

SMALL FIRE IN A SMALL SHED.

About 2 o'clock this afternoon there was a small fire in one of the sheds on the site of the new $2,000,000 hotel at Fourteenth and Alice streets. A lighted cigarette had been thrown in some rubbish, and a blaze was started. The fire department extinguished the fire after small damage had been done. At 12 o'clock another small fire broke out in Madeline Coyne's laundry at 1588 Broadway. The fire had been started by the woodwork behind the range becoming overheated and blazing up into a fire. The damage was nominal.

OLD ENGINEER PASSES AWAY

Richard Reynolds Is Summoned to His Final Rest.

Richard Reynolds, one of the oldest engineers in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company died yesterday after a brief illness, at his home, 1009 Tenth avenue in East Oakland.

Mr. Reynolds was sixty-seven years of age and a native of Maine. He is survived by a wife and a son and daughter, Leon B. Reynolds and Mrs. Louis Michelson.

Mr. Reynolds, who was familiarly known as "Dick" entered the service of the Southern Pacific Company in 1868, at which time the company had but ninety miles of road. Mr. Reynolds handled the throttle on the first engine which pulled a "Pullman" car into San Francisco, bearing a load of Bostonians. This was on October 23, 1869.

Decedent was a charter member of the first lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of this State, which was instituted at Rocklin, Cal., in the year of 1869. There was at that time just enough engineers to form a quorum.

Mr. Reynolds was prominent in local railroad circles and one of the most popular engineers on the coast.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home of decedent. The remains will be cremated.

LONDON'S "SNARK" ALL READY FOR SAILING

The little craft that will carry Jack London around the world will be ready to sail the first of March. Yesterday made a preliminary look at the sea that it must cross. It went out ten miles, with the blue sky and water far lands, and then turned back to its dock at the foot of Twelfth avenue, Oakland.

There was not a hitch nor a delay from the time the boat left its anchorage at 11 o'clock last night. So smoothly did everything run that Jack London will not give it another trial.

Those who will sail with London are: Mrs. London, Captain Eames, her uncle, Herbert Sizer, the Stanford student who will accompany them; the hand, man, Martin Johnson of Independence, Kansas, and Tschigge the cabin boy.

there is a cycle dictionary for automobilists. A "chauffeur" is a "show for" your money (when you get a good one). "Vetacity" is something you forget when you declare an auto is cheaper than a horse; a "monkey-wrench" is an emotion you derive from reading Carson's press notices; from reading your place for pouring in "underrated" alcohol, etc. This sort of lingo is a sealed book to the average citizen, but it will enter into the hyperthetical. Let the Truth Come Out.

The special writers for the Hearst papers appear to have constituted themselves attorneys for the defense in the Thaw case. Each one artfully seeks to play upon public sentiment by subtle appeals which ignore the essential facts of the case and surround Thaw and his wife with an aureole of romance.

These writers assume that the worst that has been alleged or insinuated against White is true, and that Evelyn Nesbit was an angel of purity and sweetness till he met her and that Thaw is a chivalrous paladin when, in fact, he had been a dissolute, reckless spendthrift rounder for ten years before his wife made his acquaintance. If White was the wretch he is painted, he deserved his fate, but Thaw was not justified in killing him.

But there are many substantial reasons for believing White has been atrociously maligned. He was beyond question a gifted and useful man and even if he was given to vicious pleasures in his leisure moments he was too busy in his profession to have devoted his time to luxurious debauchery as has been represented. He turned out a vast amount of beautiful work, evidencing artistic and creative talent of the highest order, requiring profound and protracted study.

A genius like his may have large faults, but it is nevertheless a priceless possession. It is not an excuse for criminal courses, but it stands for what it is in summing up the value of a man to a community.

It is within the bounds of possibility, of course, that Evelyn Thaw's story of his treatment of her is true, but it is not within the realm of probability. If he did indeed drug and ruin this girl no pity should be wasted upon him, but it gave Thaw no license to murder him in cold blood.

Thaw is about as worthless a human being as one can imagine. His life was one of vulgar dissipation. His treatment of women was habitually brutal and lacking in every instinct of the gentleman. He made Evelyn his mistress before he made her his wife, and he gave her a title to public shame both in Europe and America two years prior to his assassination of White.

As for the wretched woman in the case, she appears to be a weak, vain creature, lacking in moral sense and true feminine refinement. She is of the type that arouse the strongest male passions, and provoke men to savage, unreasoning combat. Their spirituelle beauty is the husk of soulless materialism. They are inconstant coquettes by nature, and it flatters their vanity that men should fight over them.

Taking the worst aspect of the case as the true light in which it should be viewed, Evelyn Thaw became the bone of contention between two libertines, one of whom married her to keep her away from the other, whom he subsequently murdered to gratify his jealous hatred. It is a miserable story, and a still more miserable end to a man who left behind him many splendid monuments to his genius as architect and artist.

While human law is impotent to do full justice in such cases as this, it is to be hoped that all the facts may be brought out. Whether Thaw be punished or not, White's real character should be established. If he has been shockingly maligned to justify his murder it is right that the fact should be made plain. If he was the guilty wretch the Thaw clique represents him to have been, that should be known. It is true that the law of evidence in criminal trials does not provide for the vindication of murdered men, but it should do so. The old adage that the dead are ever in the wrong is borne out in the defense of every murderer brought to the bar of justice.

Blackening the memory of dead men is the trade of criminal lawyers. Arousing sympathy for the living by degrading the dead is an expedient as old as criminal practice, and is today, as it ever was, an attack on justice and decency as well as an outrage on the sanctities of the grave. The law should provide for the full ascertainment of the truth, and not hedge its examinations with rules which shut the truth out of the court room and give immunity to desecration and post mortem outrage.

It appears that Jacob H. Riis came to San Francisco as the special representative of the President to take a hand in the school row. His business was to create sentiment here in favor of the President's line of action and in the east against the attitude of the Pacific Coast. The President must be hard put to adopt such expedients. As for Mr. Riis, his presence here is an impertinence, and his mission an unwarranted interference with the local concerns of California.

The Contra Costa Standard was somewhat premature in denouncing THE TRIBUNE for printing the rumor that the late County Treasurer was short in his cash. This paper had excellent reasons for making the statement, and published it as a matter of news and not from a desire to be sensational or do injustice to the unfortunate official. As the defalcation is now beyond question, the Standard owes us an apology. The truth in such cases is to be regretted, but it is something that must be finally told, however painful it may be to the family and friends of the persons involved.

THE DREAMS OF YOUTH.

I built me a vessel long years ago;
And I fitted it out like the galleys of old;
Its sails were as white as the fresh fallen snow,
And its bows were resplendent with crimson and gold;
Its bulwarks were firm, and its masts strong and tall,
And a gray-colored pennon on high was spread;
The beauty of Youth lent a charm to it all,
And an image of Hope was its proud figurehead.

I launched it one morn in the spring of the year,
When the breezes were low, and the sunbeams were bright;

And I, in the pride of my youth, had no fear
Of the strength of the waves or the gloom of the night,
So I dreamed of the riches my galleys would bring
From the lands where no bark had been ever before;
But the summer passed by, and spring wore round to spring.

And my vessel returned not, alas! to the shore.

At length one dark autumn it came back to me,
But its masts were all broken, its bows were bare;
Its bulwarks were covered with growth of the sea,
And the figure of Hope was no longer there,
While it brought me for freight but the drift of the wave,
The sea foam and weeds that had lain in it long;
And I mournfully sighed as I gazed on the grave
Of the dreams that were bright when life's heartbeat was strong.

Official Vandalism and Piracy.

Our government treats art in the spirit of a vandal and authorship in the spirit of a bandit. All other countries encourage the importation of foreign works of art and do all they can to prevent the masterpieces of home genius from being transported to other lands; but in America we impose an enormous and senseless tax on foreign works of art, and thus drive American students and lovers of art to Paris, Rome, Florence, Dresden, Munich, Madrid and Antwerp to study the masters of the old world. Our museums are uselessly taxed in their efforts to delight and instruct the masses of the American people. By placing works of art in the category of ordinary merchandise we show that our appreciation of art is according to the standard of the vandal.

But if our Philistinism in regard to art is pure vandalism, it is robbery with respect to authorship. An example of this is shown by the obstinate antagonism to an international copyright. Early in our national history, our laws provided ample protection for inventors. Our patent laws, protecting from piracy the exclusive right of inventors to their devices, made the American people the most inventive in the world, and made the United States the first in mechanical development among the nations of the earth. But while the creations of the mechanic's brain was made property by law, the creations of the author's brain were made the spoil of every thief mean enough to steal what another produced. In defense of this unjust policy it was urged that copyright laws stopped the spread of knowledge. Henry Clay opposed copyright laws on this ground, ignoring the vital fact that this absurd policy weighed down authorship with discouragement and injustice.

The copyright won its way finally, however, but the solons who recognized the justice of giving authors property rights in their own productions within the confines of this country refused to sanction an international copyright because a certain class of publishers desired to pirate the works of foreign authors—in other words, were willing that foreign publishers should steal the work of American authors that American publishers might be at liberty to steal the work of foreign authors.

The reasoning against an international copyright is as shabby as the motive of the opposition, which is nothing more nor less than a desire to steal for personal profit the brains of other people. It is a self-evident proposition that if authorship is a property right in one country it should be a property right in all. The notion that an author is entitled to protection in his own country but not in other countries has been sedulously fostered by dishonest publishers, who are willing to see their own countrymen robbed that they may be at liberty to rob foreigners.

That is why we say our government treats authorship in the spirit of a bandit. It is somewhat different, morally speaking, with the tax on works of art, but the policy it embodies is opposed to culture and enlightenment. It raises a senseless obstruction to the refinements of education and the artistic development of the American people. The importation of foreign works of art should be encouraged and be made free of duty, for the enrichment of private galleries diffuses a love of art and in the end adds to the collections of the public galleries and museums.

A direct primary is not to be secured by indirection. The Legislature may be assured that the issue is one that must be met squarely. Which does not imply, however, that the convention system and the machinery of party organizations are to be completely destroyed. Cohesive party action is necessary to give direction, scope and momentum to the popular will. The Democratic idea of a direct primary appears to be one that will paralyze the Republican organization as a political force and destroy Republican supremacy in this State by laws which prevent party action.

SAYS MRS. FISH IS DETHRONED

Social Supremacy of Leader of New York's "400" Hangs in Balance.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish's social supremacy hung in the balance while her husband's position as president of the Illinois Central Railway was in jeopardy during his contest with E. H. Harriman. Harriman won. Fish lost her position and Mrs. Fish is devoting all the resourceful energies of an ambitious woman to save her social endorsement in the "four hundred." Many declare earnestly that she has lost her leadership.

When Mrs. Fish marked out a social deadline and declared that Harriman's daughters must not cross it, she paved the way for the dejection of her husband. For the last four months Mrs.
Fish's smart set has been watching the Fish-Harriman social battle with bated breath. Those who have been keeping count declare that the palm of victory rests with Harriman and that Mrs. Fish has been dethroned.

What is said to have been the conclusive test of Mrs. Fish's standing in the smart set came Tuesday night when she gave a dinner at her home in East Seventy-eighth street. Sixty persons were present, but not an Astor, Vanderbilt, Golet, Rhineland, Schermerhorn or Wilson, all of whom stand in the front rank of New York's smart set.
The Astors, Golets and Vanderbilts are all presently represented in the Illinois Central directorate. Harriman himself is not a social aspirant, but he is intensely interested in having his daughters "break into" New York's "four hundred."

to his San Francisco home yesterday from Chicago, where he was in attendance at the regular quarterly meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association.

"The sessions," said he, "were practically all devoted to road rates. There was a lot of interest in the Pacific Coast. Our time was largely occupied with a lot of minor details to conform to interstate commerce rulings.

"What will be of interest to our people out here was the reports I heard from Eastern passenger agents about the prospective big travel to California and Nevada this spring. There is more talk of Nevada and California than I have heard in the last three years. I expect a tremendous western movement of people, particularly of the colonist class. The reduced colonist rates will go into effect the 1st of March, and then, according to all indications, the travel will be heavy."

"Dinner's Coming I Smell It"

Does Your Stomach Feel Happy When Meal-Time Comes?

When you sniffle in the air the appetizing aroma of something cooking, do you feel that you could sit down,
open your mouth, pin back your ears and eat with a delightful gusto, and eat what is before you, and not feel any bad effects from it?

In other words, can your poor stomach take care of everything and anything you put in it? There are thousands and thousands of people who do not know what it is to have a good, strong, healthy stomach, nor do they realize what it is to have a good appetite.

You can have an all-powerful stomach and a fetching appetite for every meal, and every day, if you give your stomach a rest, and let something take hold of your food for you, and digest it as it comes into the stomach something that is harmless, but that really does the work of digesting, quickly and thoroughly.

This "something" is Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, the most effective little tablets in the world for curing anything that may be wrong with your stomach. One ingredient of these precious little workers digests 3,000 grains of the coarsest or richest food put into the stomach. Think of it, 3,000 grains! That is the real art of digesting stomach, because they act just like the stomach, they digest your food, just as though you didn't have a stomach at all. It supplies the stomach with the digestive juices which have become weak and scanty.

Then your indigestion, dyspepsia,
sour risings, brash, belchings, acidity, fermentation, loss of appetite, aversion to food, bloating, heartburn and nausea, will be no more. You can then eat anything you want, all you want, whenver you want, and your stomach will feel fine before and after your meals. Your appetite will be a thing of pleasure to have, your meals will be a pleasure to eat and relish, and your digestion will be thorough and soothing to the whole body.

Well, you can't do your work well, or be cheerful, or have energy or vim or ambition, when your stomach is bad.
Make yourself feel good after a hearty meal, feel good after a hearty meal, make your food do its work, by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

right itself, then you need feel noth-

NEVER TROUBLE TROUBLE.

ANNA R. HENDERSON.

There's a cheery little proverb
It is very well to heed,
In a world where pain and sorrow
Are quite plentiful indeed.
If you would not have them double,
Then keep this well in view,
To never trouble trouble
Until trouble troubles you.

Don't think when storm-clouds gather
You are certain to be drowned;
The very darkest tempest
May quickly blow around.
And up above the blackness
Shines evermore the blue;
So never trouble trouble
Until trouble troubles you.

Ofttimes a gloomy morning
Precedes a sunny day;
So, without a word of warning,
Our trials slip away.
What pangs we oft have suffered
From ills we never knew!
So never trouble trouble
Until trouble troubles you.

Quit counting all the bridges
You may never have to cross.
Quit climbing all the ridges
Of future pain and loss.
Trudge on and do your duty,
To God and conscience true,
And never trouble trouble
Until trouble troubles you.

SHOWED SICK WIFE PICTURES OF COFFIN

New York Woman Alleges Inhuman Treatment on the Part of Her Husband.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—To be shown photographs of tombstones and coffins while she was very sick, Mrs. Jennie L. Taylor testified in the Camden Chancery Court yesterday, was part of the alleged inhuman conduct on the part of her husband, Joseph L. Taylor, who owns several stores and is worth considerable money.

Mrs. Taylor asks for alimony, and her husband, to offset this, has filed a cross-suit, alleging desertion on the part of the wife. Vice Chancellor Leaming said the question at issue was whether the woman was justified in the desertion. He said there are some times actions or treatment on the part of a husband that induce abandonment by the wife, and that she was constructive desertion by the husband.

Mrs. Taylor testified that she and her husband were married January 10, 1894. The following August a son, Alvin, was born. Her husband went to Providence, R. I. with another woman and a friend, and told her that he introduced the woman as his wife.

OFFERED $1200 FOR DIVORCE.
Mrs. Taylor testified that he offered her $1200 to get a divorce, and that she found a letter in his desk, which read: "Dear Joe, I have had no letter from you for a week. Do you mean to say you have kissed no one but me?" The witness said she was compelled to give up this letter, which she found in his desk, under threats of being killed. She said her husband had told her that he would put her under the ground six feet.

PICTURES OF COFFINS.

In January, 1933, the witness said she was taken sick and her husband thought she was going to die, and that while she was in bed he brought photographs of tombstones and coffins and told witness to make her selection.

The witness said that her husband's treatment was cruel and that he had beaten her, and that she was under treatment by Dr. Richardson for over fourteen months.

She said she wrote her husband four letters. One letter, dated April, 1934, was offered in evidence. The letter pleaded with her husband for a reunion of the family, and asked, for the sake of the child, to forgive and forget, and live Christian lives. She said that the letter was dictated by ex-Judge Wescott. She never received an answer.

In the meantime Dr. Richardson's sons beat her husband because they had heard he had talked about their mother in an ungentlemanly way. The case will be continued today.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Satin is yielding its place gradually to softer fabrics for bridal gowns. If used it is often covered with lace or chiffon and when used alone it is of the softest weave.

There are plenty of new shapes in muffs, but the flat pillow muff is ever popular. The bigger and softer the better, so far as fashion is concerned. Of course the elbow or three-quarter sleeve is at the root of this increasing size in muffs.

Afternoon bags are now necessary. The reticule carried in the morning for shopping has attained such proportions that a distinct article is required for calling later in the day. For this purpose the daintiest little bags in pig-skin and every possible shade of leather have appeared, fitted only with a change purse and a single middle compartment for cards. Any gown may be matched in these bags.

Black gowns of a somberemonious character are beloved of the Parisienne just now. Quite fascinating are the black mousseline de soie robes striped with black velvet ribbon. The skirts are very full and when the wearer moves they have the effect of a finely plaited jupe. Other gowns still retain their elegant severity of outline and in evening confections artistic inspirations are almost entirely devoted to the adornment of the bodice.

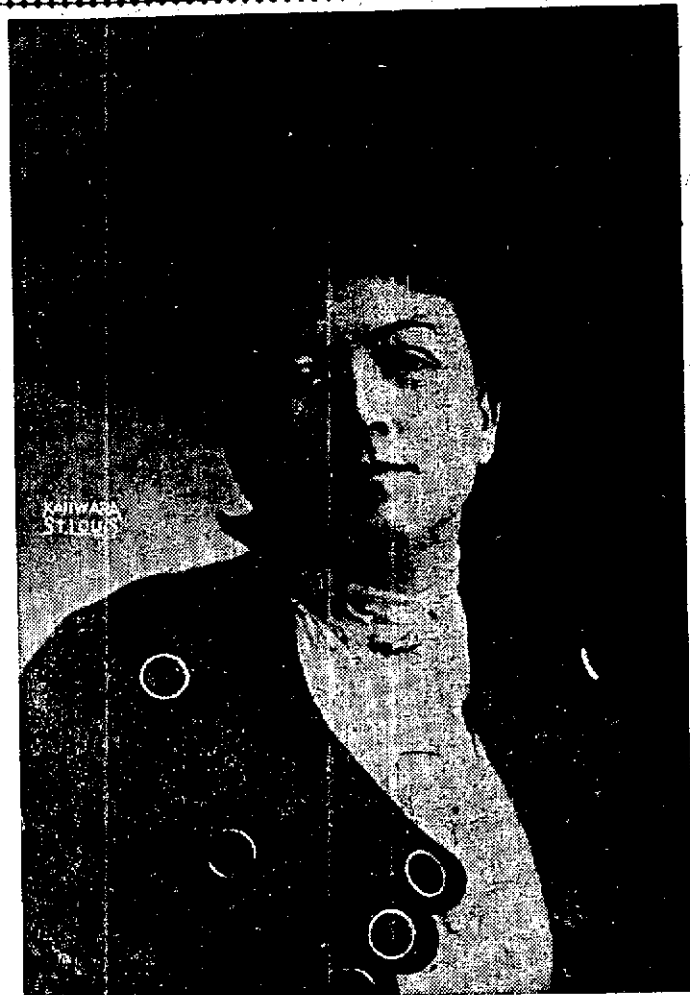

BLANCHE BATES FIGHTS FIRE

Puts Out Blazing Rug on Stage During Performance at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, February 11.—

Blanche Bates showed her presence of mind at the Belasco theater last night in the "Girl of the Golden West." In the second act, when she was playing poker with the sheriff for the life of her road agent sweetheart, a match dropped from the overcoat of the sheriff as he threw the garment over the table. Some one stepped on the match, igniting it, and the fur rug was set afire.

Miss Bates walked across the room to the mantle and took from it a bottle, and on her way back stepped on the fire several times, extinguishing it. Then she secured a drink for the sheriff and proceeded with the game. Scarcely any one in the audience knew this was not a part of the play.

WOMAN THRASHES CONDUCTOR FOR REFUSING TO STOP A CAR

She Declares That He Merited the Punishment for His Insulting Remarks to Her, and So Willingly Goes to Jail.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—The soft hands of a woman dealt a street car conductor such blows yesterday that he called for a policeman's help. The woman is Mrs. C. C. Andrews, of 118 South Griffith avenue, wife of a post-office employe and proprietor of a little art sewing store in Mercantile place. The conductor is R. P. Hilman.

The incident began on Broadway near Mercantile place, and several chapters were enacted while the car went out to Westlake Park, returned and left Mrs. Andrews at first and Broadway in charge of two policemen. Immediately thereafter she spent one hour in the city jail.

Hilman was so covered with blows, so exceedingly well belabored that he set up a cry for help, and the little woman did not discontinue punning him until a passenger, appealed to by Hilman, got Mrs. Andrews into a seat and held her there.

The origin of the trouble was the refusal of Hilman to stop the car at Mercantile place. An argument was engendered. The conductor said the cars never stopped there. To which Mrs. Andrews replied that she had been getting off there daily for three months, and that the car had stopped at that intersection the night before.

Then the conductor said, "You'll ride to the next block, see?" Mrs. Andrews was on the step, and it may have appeared that she was going to alight while the car was in motion, so the conductor firmly grasped her by the shoulder and dragged her onto the platform.

Mrs. Andrews then reproved the offender by slapping his face and beating a tattoo on his ribs. He tried to hold Mrs. Andrews' flying fists, but the pluck little woman eluded him and dealt him several ringing slaps for his pains.

"For heaven's sake, help me," cried Hilman. A man rushed into the fray and forced Mrs. Andrews into a seat. The conductor then told Mrs. Andrews she would have to alight at Seventh street. She merely looked at him from her imprisonment, while he dodged and parried.

Mrs. Andrews rode out around Westlake Park, where the conductor telephoned to the police station.

"That suits me, too," said Mrs. Andrews.

She therefore rode back, and at First and Broadway Policemen Harland and May awaited victor and vanquished. Upon Hilman's representation and that of his assistant Mrs. Andrews was taken before the prosecuting attorney. She tried to get a complaint against Hilman, but the attorney refused its issuance. The policemen then placed Mrs. Andrews in jail and booked her "on suspicion." An hour later her husband came and she was released.

"I have had so much trouble with impertinent and bullying conductors that my patience has been worn out," said Mrs. Andrews at her home yesterday afternoon. "Even when the conductor would not let me off at Mercantile place I was perfectly calm and good-natured, but my standing on the step seemed to enrage him. I didn't intend to get off while the car was moving, but was going to alight at Sixth street. He seized me by the arm, though, and literally lifted me up. My right arm is badly bruised where he grabbed me. I then believed I had a right to resent his insulting manner and use of violence and I did so. I am quite sure," she said with satisfaction, "that he didn't escape the punishment he so richly merited."

LITTLE BOY BLUE.

By EUGENE FIELD.

The little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and staunch he stands;
And the little toy soldier is red with rust,
And his musket molds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new
And the soldier was passing fair,
And that was the time when our little Boy Blue Kissed them and put them there.

"Now, don't you go 'till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise!"
So toddling off to his trundle bed
He dreamt of his pretty toys.
And as he was dreaming an angel song
Awakened our little Boy Blue—
Oh, the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true.

Aye, faithful to little Boy Blue they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand,
The smile of a little face.
And they wonder, as waiting these long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our little Boy Blue
Since he kissed them and put them there.

WORTH ANSWERS MRS. FISH; CALLS FOREIGN GOWNS BEST

Repudiates the Statement That American Dressmakers Are Superior to Those of Europe.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish's statement, published in the New York American, that "American dressmakers are the best in the world," has evoked a reply from M. Worth, the famous Parisian creator of fashions, who is visiting London.

"If Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish's opinion had a basis in fact," he said, "the question at once arises: 'Why do American women flock to Paris and London to buy their gowns?'"

"It has been estimated that out of the one hundred thousand American visitors to Paris seventy-five thousand come to buy dresses, and this in spite of the fact that the customs duty, when they get back home, is high.

"Statistics prove that the American dressmakers are not the best in the world, because they come to Europe to get their models.

"America is a great country in every sense of the word, but Paris still must have the dominant reputation for dress. That cannot be wrested from her."

The manager of Redfern's, the great London modiste, said apropos of Mrs. Fish's declaration:

"There is no doubt that the American dressmakers do good work, but it will be found that almost without exception the workers have been originally trained and passed through their apprenticeships in Europe. American modistes come as a matter of course to London and Paris for ideas, although they modify the styles to suit their clients."

BRAVE LITTLE SISTERS RESCUE ESCH OTHER

Children Fall Into Skating Pond and Ten-Year-Old Saves Life of Another.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Battling stoutly with the treacherous ice in the chilling waters of Synott's pond, Ruth, the ten-year-old daughter of James P. Avis, of Wrentham, N. J., pushed her seven-year-old sister, Doris, to safety, then fell back exhausted, her efforts, and was in turn rescued.

Yesterday morning the sisters, Ruth and Doris, started for school across the estate of G. W. Synott. The path leads across a causeway, which separates the owner's foot quicksand spring from the shallower fish pond below.

Since the beginning of the school term it has been a custom of Mrs. Avis to stand on the front porch of her home and watch her children until they were safely across the causeway, as the spring is known as a dangerous quicksand, several animals having been caught in it and smothered.

Last Friday the family spent several hours skating on the larger pond, so the mother, knowing the ice to be safe, gave no heed to possible danger.

Some of the neighbors' boys had cut a hole four feet square in the spring pond, and a light scum of ice had formed over it. As the little girls crossed the causeway, Doris, the younger, noticed what seemed to be a new "slide" worn by the children in coasting. She ran a few steps and slid out on the thin ice, which gave way beneath her weight, shooting her little body completely under the ice, save for one arm, with which she clutched the firm edge of the hole.

Ruth, the older girl, walking ahead on the causeway, heard her sister's faint scream as she went through the ice. She turned and grasped Doris' hand. Weighted down with the weight of her clothing, Doris' little forty-pound body proved too great a weight for Ruth, and in her efforts to draw her out she slipped and fell into the icy water with her sister.

WHERE IS THE OLD-TIME GALLANTRY?

Where is the old-time gallantry? Where are the little courtesies and marks of respect toward the women that in olden times came as natural to a gentleman as life itself?

Are the men of today losing the right to be called gentlemen, and are the days of chivalry gone?

A glance into the street cars today would intimate that such is the case, for in the majority of instances the strap-hangers on these portable packing-houses are women. Women with tired faces, bundle-laden, and often child-laden arms, swaying to and fro in a vain endeavor to stand upright on the swerving, rattling car. Many a wistful glance is cast at the well-dressed man occupying, and often sprawling sideways, on a coveted seat. He is wilfully and mercilessly unconscious even of the presence of the woman.

"Do not the men pay their fare?" you may argue, "and are they not entitled to a seat as well as the women? Besides, many of them work hard all day."

Yes, the men pay their fare, and in all probability are as much entitled to the seats as the women, just as the hog that gets to the trough first is entitled to most of the swill. The hog takes the best and the most because he is a hog, but from men we expect better things.

You say the men work hard. That is also true, but it is an established fact that the man with the grimmest hands, the man who is in his worst clothes, and the man who has beyond a doubt been working the hardest all day, is the man who is the first to offer a lady his seat.

It is the dandy, the "jolly good fellow," and the man with the soft white hands, who is the last to relinquish his place.

You argue further that women do not need these little gallantries by reason of their recently acquired independence; that, since they have gone out into the world of business they have in many respects lost their womanliness and are placed on an equal footing with the men.

As long as women are the mothers of our race they can never lose their womanliness. Their going out into the world to earn an honorable livelihood only makes them worthier to be called womanly. We can justly be proud of this independence of our American women.

Instead of the men lacking in courtesy toward these independent women, their gallantry should be intensified. The woman who will fight her way through the hardships, vicissitudes and often dangers of a business life, deserves the highest respect that man can give a woman. Nothing should be too good for her.

Hats off to the independent, womanly woman, and bravo for the few gallant and courteous gentlemen of the nineteenth century!

HELPING IN THE KITCHEN.

Mr. Brisk—"Don't fret about the scales, my dear. I'll take 'em off myself!"

"It's very easy. I've done it a thousand times while camping!"

"All you need is a sharp knife and some—"

"Patience. Owt! Murder! I've cut my finger! Wow! What do you have to say to that?"

"Darkest! Ht! Owt! See the butcher? Well, say, send up a steak; that's all you need!"

One of the Greatest Money Making Centers

And Oakland is becoming greater and greater. As population increases, real estate values advance. When it reaches a 500,000 population (and it's coming as sure as the sun shines) you'll see some one point to a piece of property and say:--"That at one time it was offered at such and such a price. See what it's worth today." It's the old story over again--"Put off and lose." You've got the chance to make it again, if you'll only take advantage of the opportunity.

Still Another Good One

Here is another good opportunity to make money on Alameda property--corner of San Jose Avenue and Park Street. Five rooms, gas, bath, electricity, good laundry and coved ceilings. Will paint to suit the purchaser.

$3,000

$40,000 On San Pablo Ave., corner of Isabella--60 foot frontage. The many improvements being put in around this property is forcing up the price every day.

$30,000 On San Pablo Avenue between 20th and 21st. This is a very conservative price for this particular property. A gilt-edge investment.

$18,000 On San Pablo Avenue between 22nd and 23rd. Price on this property is bound to go up before ten days have gone by.

Special Offer

Owner wants money for other purposes. A quick "turn" can be made on this--and a good profit netted. The special price is only good until tomorrow night. Actually worth $4600. Modern 6-room house. One of the choicest residence streets in Oakland--Sherman Street near Gold. If taken before tomorrow night the price is

$4,375

$3,750

Another good "buy," on East 24th street between 10th and 11th Avenues, thoroughly constructed throughout, in fine condition, 6 foot basement, 8 rooms, upstairs rents for $20 a month. Lot 57x150. The remaining frontage on which can be built another paying building. This property has a splendid future.

$7,000

Built on colonial lines, makes its appearance all the more pleasing. 8 rooms and bath--note the sweeping frontage of this residence. Rents for $75. On the corner of 5th Avenue and East 10th street; as an individual "buy" will pay a handsome profit in the near future--as an investment it now pays 13 per cent gross.

Looks like a very good "buy" and good for a quick "turn". Twenty minutes walk from 12th and Broadway. A deposit of $200 will hold this property for 30 days in order to give time for search of title and complete sale.

$65,000 On 10th St., between Broadway and Franklin. No argument needed to show that this property will rapidly increase in value. Lot 50x100 ft.

$10,000 On Webster St., between 7th and 8th Sts., 2-story building bringing in a rent of $150 per month. This property will improve in value very rapidly.

ABOARD THE BEAUTY CART

BLUE JAY—The most excellent qualities sometimes have their disadvantages. A woman with a deep, studious mind and tremendous superiority may be very lovable, but it usually happens that she does not attract love as does the clinging ivy type of woman. Her thinking powers repel a man. He sees conflict ahead. The mental strength of such a superior style of woman places her in the position of adviser and protector, when all such offices belong more rightly to the husband. The lady paragon of mental attainments does not yield herself to the pretty little arts of coquetry. She expects everything to yield to her. You say that you must choose between the man you love and the studies you have taken up. What your choice should be depends entirely upon the integrity, honesty and affections of the man. If he is worthy and devoted to you, marry him. You will find time for study if you are so inclined. The right kind of a man will help you to improve.

VANNA—Treatment for pimples and blackheads calls for absolute cleanliness of the body, externally and internally. Pimples show that the body is absorbing poisonous substances that it should be throwing off. Keep the intestinal tract, the kidneys and the skin all active by drinking plenty of water; eating fruit and bathing daily. At night scrub the face well with hot water and green soap, afterward anointing with this healing cream: Five grams of lanolin, five grams of oil of sweet almonds, five grams of sulphur precipitate, two and one-half grams of oxide of zinc, ten drops of extract of violeta. Apply sparingly.

ANNIE H.—Singing while doing your housework will help you through many an unpleasant task. It is the best of tonics for the spirit and the body. The lungs are filled and the blood revived and freshened by the vocal exercises. Working around the house in very soiled, untidy garments will have a depressing effect upon the mind. Working without system will tire one twice as quickly as taking your tasks in a methodical manner. Housework can be a pleasure or it can be a pleasurable occupation; the difference is found in the worker's viewpoint. When washing dishes do not stand over this tires the shoulders. When sweeping have every window open. You won't take cold; your exercise will keep you warm and safe from chills. If you can spare the time, have a little nap every afternoon. Some women do their housework as if they were carrying the weight of nations upon their shoulders. Such will grow old early in life.

RECAMIER—If your hair is broken and falling it is time for you to give the matter some attention. It is a simple thing to restore life and vitality to the hair if one will take the trouble. Every night of your life rub this tonic into the scalp for ten minutes, parting the hair, so that the liquid is properly distributed: Forty-eight grains of resorcin, one-fourth ounce of glycerin, diluted alcohol to fill a two-ounce bottle. Apply to the scalp every night with the finger tips, parting the hair over and over again until the grower has been thoroughly distributed and well rubbed in. There is nothing on the dining-room table, or nothing that could be placed there, that is so great and formidable an enemy to the human face as buckwheat cakes. They are sure to make the complexion yellow and covered with eruptions. Don't insult your face by putting buckwheat cakes into it. They head the entire list of complexion destroyers.

ANXIOUS—For dry hair that is not doing its best this tonic will be found most valuable: Forty-eight grains of resorcin, one-fourth ounce of glycerin, diluted alcohol to fill a two-ounce bottle. Apply to the scalp every night with the finger tips, parting the hair over and over again until the grower has been thoroughly distributed and well rubbed in. There is nothing on the dining-room table, or nothing that could be placed there, that is so great and formidable an enemy to the human face as buckwheat cakes. They are sure to make the complexion yellow and covered with eruptions. Don't insult your face by putting buckwheat cakes into it. They head the entire list of complexion destroyers.

PROMISSORY NOTE. The plaintiffs allege that they have offered the bank the money due on the note in exchange for the stock but the bank refused to consider it. McBoyle asserts that he is ready to clear the indebtedness of the planing mill of which he is the president and principal stockholder. High says that the bank's refusal is most pernicious under his management.

McBoyle claims that High is acting as an agent for the Union National Bank in this matter. The court has ruled, by a 4-3 vote, that the bank has not voted. It is without the consent of the co-operation of the plaintiffs, and the majority of the board of directors cannot be elected without his consent.

CHAIRMAN ED WEBSTER STATES HIS CASE
Declares That the Officials of Oakland Must Give Value for Salary Received.

Greater Oakland, Cal., Feb. 11, 1907.
To The Citizens of Oakland:
I desire to make this plain, candid, honest statement.
Up to Saturday noon I had just considered myself a plain, common, ordinary citizen. Since then, I find a certain amount of publicity thrown at me and as chairman of the Committee of Progress, I deem it positively necessary to put myself squarely on record and let all people know just where I stand.
First—I want to settle the talk which will arise and which has come to my ears already, that I am doing this merely for the purpose of advertising myself and my business. I deny that. I work all the morning at my command. It is positively not a fact. I never thought of such a thing and I do not now. I went into this work because I saw an opportunity for the organization of a committee which would work along different lines from any other existence and I also wish at this time to make this statement:
The formation of the Committee was not suggested to me by any living person. I planned it myself. I did not have the advice of any one and no merchant who is upon that Committee need in any way, manner or form fear that his business interests will suffer on account of his having joined it.
The unwavering policy of the Committee is this:
We have no axes to grind; no friends to reward; no enemies to punish. We recognize neither politics nor political parties, priest or layman, Union Labor or Citizens' Alliance, black or white, big or little, great or small, except to assist the small in attaining greatness and to work for the good of Oakland. I deeply regret that Mayor Frank M. Mott took the action he did last Saturday in coming into my store and using the language he did. I was so dumfounded for a few moments that I could hardly speak. He certainly does not stand by his word which he gave this Committee at the meeting of the street committee of the Committee of Progress with the Board of Public Works, held Thursday morning, the last week of February 5. He has very suddenly changed his mind and I have his exact words on record, for I had a stenographer hid away in behind the members of the Committee and maybe the Board can go back on what they said. That letter Mayor Mott refers to as being so "insulting" can be seen at any time at the office of the Secretary of the Committee, Mr. H. S. Kitts, 1307 1/2 Broadway. But I am sure that he will not show it to only those who are entitled to see it. Mayor Mott was asked by a reporter of the TRIBUNE to show the letter but he won't do it, or didn't do it. I gave the reporter as nearly as I could the exact wording of it.
MADE A MISTAKE.
Mayor Mott made a big mistake. He is up against the hardest nut he ever cracked if he thinks this Committee or its chairman are not in dead earnest. Mayor Mott is up against a man who does not fear man or the devil; and who will stand by his word if it takes the hide off his back.
He is up against a man who has lived in Oakland nearly eight years, as the Mayor says, and who never had a Tuxedo or a full dress suit on his back nor wore a silk hat or a pair of patent leather shoes. He is up against a man who works for a living and earns every cent he has, one who is at work at 8 a. m.

SENATOR G. R. LUKENS IS HOME FROM JAPAN
The Oaklander Declares That the School Incident Has Not Embittered the People of the Orient.

Senator G. R. Lukens is home again from the Orient. He returned yesterday on the Siberia much improved in health. The Senator was injured in an automobile accident on September 26. He sailed for Japan on November 9.
Senator Lukens was given a great reception yesterday by the folks.
A reception committee sent out to meet him consisted of Captain E. M. Freeman, James Shanley, L. C. Brownell, Mose P. O'Brien, James McCulloch, J. Walter Scott, Dr. N. Musser and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Beretta, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Evans, Chas. Hawker, Mrs. D. P. Fetter, Dr. C. B. Glover, K. F. Fitch and W. H. Volland. All were taken out to the Siberia on the revenue cutter Golden Gate, and accompanied Senator Lukens on the Siberia to the Pacific Mail Dock. Senator Lukens was accompanied on the trip by his wife, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lukens, and his physician, Dr. Porter.
TALKED WITH OMORI.
"I spent the entire time in Japan," said Senator Lukens, "and during my stay put in a day at the Imperial University at Tokyo. There I met the president, Professor K. Mitsuaki and his brothers, all men of prominence. I met, also, Professor Omori, the earthquake expert, who was here some months ago. He is without doubt one of the world's greatest scientists. I had quite a long chat with him, in the course of which he had much to say about the San Francisco quake of April 18th last. He told me that probably not again for twenty years would such a violent earthquake occur in this part of the world. The next serious disturbance will probably be felt in the Thibetan country, west of China.
Professor Omori predicted the Valparaiso earthquake of August, his forecast being made public soon after the temblor here. In my talk with Professor Omori he said that he had only one step further for scientists to make in seismology before the predictive stage was reached. He said that he would see it, he said, but the next generation would see it for the temblor that shook San Francisco, it was as sure as anything on the calendar. The drift of the earth's crust was toward the northwest, and it gave way here, and in the minds of scientists the seismic disturbance on this coast last April was as natural as anything that ever happened.
JAPAN VERY FRIENDLY.
"As to the San Francisco school question," said Senator Lukens, "there is little to be said. In Japan the newspapers were very self-contained, and I saw no evidence of any ill feeling against this country. I did hear, however, and from a prominent official of the government, that in spite of the alliance with England, Japan had a closer feeling for the United States than any other nation on earth. And that war countries take place between the two countries. I believe this man voiced the sentiments of every Japanese of standing."
